STATE EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION MEETS AT STATE COLLEGE.
Sixty-three men, representing twenty-six papers, in session at Storrs College Monday. These men represented 88 different papers of this state and one of Rhode Island. The party reached this city shortly after 9 o'clock, going directly to the college by automobile.

C. L. Beach, president of the college, welcomed the members of the association as guests of the college, stating in his remarks of the advantages that the school afforded. Everett C. Beach, past president of the editorial association, responded on behalf of the guests. A tour of inspection was then taken and guides pointed out the places of interest. Much interest was shown in the poultry branch of the school, where the large number of hens in the egg-laying contest are housed. The attention of the guests was called to the sheep raising contest, and for the benefit of the guests one of the well trained sheep dogs of the school was sent out to herd the sheep. The dog showed great skill in his line of work. After the tour of inspection the party adjourned to the dining hall, where a fine meal was served.

After the dinner a business meeting of the association was held. George E. Chandler, instructor at Storrs, which was adopted by the unanimous vote of those present to offer $50 as a prize in pig raising. A great deal of interest was shown in this project and it is hoped to establish boys' and girls' pig raising clubs. The $50 is to be divided into four prizes, the first of $20, the second $15, third $10 and fourth of $5. These prizes will be awarded at some agricultural exhibit and the winners of the prizes must be members of the proposed clubs.

A lengthy discussion on mobilizing the organizations and industries of the state was held and it was decided to give all the publicity possible to this service. In this manner it is hoped that the people and industries of the state will know to what thing their energies can be bent to be of the best possible service to the country and state. For this purpose a bureau was established and L. L. Maddox was chosen to act as head of it. Senator Charles C. Fennemore of Hartford spoke on the subject and he will be connected with the bureau.

About 3:30, after the business meeting, the guests left the college grounds in automobiles in order to arrive in this city in time to catch their trains. All those attending spoke very highly of the school and the methods used in the work there.

Columbia Records For June

In the Columbia Records for June, Pablo Casals, the world's greatest 'cellist, will play for you exactly as he plays in concert, and as only Casals can play if you have his exclusive COLUMBIA RECORDS.

The spirit of pure music which sleeps beneath the calm and passive exterior of Casals, comes to pulsing and throbbing life in his interpretation of the famed "Evening Star" Aria from Tannhauser. In this melody, which has in it the essence of all evening calm, music of love and stars and night, the strings of the master's cello speak more eloquence than many words.

Many other good Records will be found in the June list. Patriotic Marches, Popular Hits and the best Dance Records for the month will be found in the June list. Step in and hear them.

considerable discussion over some of the questions and the arguments were rather warm. The first matter to be taken up was in regard to chlorinating the water system. A letter was read from the state board of health in regard to the system which was suggested at the last regular meeting. The state officials printed the system in question very highly and recommended it to a doctor. A resolution was introduced that the system in question be adopted and a sum of $1,500 was appropriated for the same. The sanitary committee reported unfavorably on the petition made at the last meeting for a health survey to be made in conjunction with the town officials, inasmuch as it had been found that the matter had been taken up by the state legislature, which has enacted laws governing the subject at hand. The motion was made that the petitioners be allowed to withdraw. A report was read from the special committee of three of the physicians of the town in regard to the difficulty of ex-Chief of Police E. H. Richmond, which stated that in their opinion Richmond was permanently disabled from an injury received in the performance of duty. The question was raised as to whether this report would come under the statute of the city charter which states that an officer must be permanently disabled before he is allowed a pension. It was finally decided that the matter hinges on the word "permanent." Alderman Jenkins moved that the matter be referred back to the police committee of the common council for further investigation and recommendation. Alderman Graves, chairman of the fire department committee, made a personal recommendation that the council appoint three firemen to look after the new auto pumper recently purchased. He also made recommendation that a permanent fire chief and fireman be appointed at the present time. He suggested that the firemen be paid a salary of $1,000 a year and that they be on duty 21 hours a day, with one hour in seven off. He also suggested that sleeping quarters be provided for the men, but this action would not be necessary at the present time. The question was raised at this point in regard to the acceptance of the truck by the city. The matter was held up at the previous meeting because of the fact that it had not been decided whether or not a representative of the LaFrance company was to instruct a man or men in the care and use of the truck. A contract was secured and nothing was found in it whereby the company was under any obligations to do this, although it was stated by the representative of the LaFrance company before the sale was arranged that this would be done. Alderman Jenkins made a motion that the fire department bring in recommendations to a future meeting in regard to the matter suggested by Alderman Graves.

Today there are still fewer unsold sets of the popular "Handy Volume" Issue of the new

printed on genuine India paper

Today we have even less to say than yesterday—it would be useless to say any more when there are so few sets left

Action is the all-important thing of today. A decision to buy NOW—sending your first payment of $1 today, will make the Britannica an actual fact in your home. It will bring to you, to your wife, to your boys and girls, a reliable, authentic source of Knowledge, Culture, Education and Efficiency that will astound you as you grow to appreciate its wonderful usefulness in everyday affairs.

Saturday next—only 4 days off—this sale will end, because every set of the Britannica, printed on genuine India paper, will be sold. And we simply can't get another set—there is no more India paper to be had; no more can be manufactured, because the war makes it impossible to secure any more flax from Belgium, Ireland or Germany, and hemp from Russia, for the making of this beautiful thin and tough paper.

Today you are reasonably sure of getting a set—if you order it immediately. Tomorrow your prospect of securing a set will be less. And the next day you may be TOO LATE! (This advertisement was prepared and sent out to newspapers from Maine to California ten days ago. This was necessary to have it appear in all the cities of the United States and Canada on the same day. Our estimate as to how long the sets on hand would last was made 10 days ago and, of course, it is quite possible that the last set will be sold before next Saturday.)

It is NOW—or never, if you want one of these last India paper sets of the Britannica. You must decide YES—or no for all time—for, when the last of these sets is sold, it will be the last India paper set anywhere in the world.

If you don't know NOW how useful and helpful the Britannica would be to you, you haven't time to find out. But if you do know this, then—
This is your final chance!!!

Act!

A Wonderful New Volume

THE publishers of the Encyclopaedia Britannica announce that they have made arrangements for the issue, as soon after the end of the war as possible, of a new volume, containing a full and authoritative history of the war.

The new volume will be written by scholars and experts of the same high character as those who wrote for the Britannica itself, and by many of its own contributors. It will be absolutely impartial, excluding all partisan feeling and prejudice. It will contain:

1. A judicial account of the real causes of the war, the progress of the struggle, and the results all over the world, with maps, as necessary, to show changes in boundaries.
2. The lives of the new leaders, whether civil, military or naval, in the belligerent countries.
3. The results of the war outside the sphere of fighting, the progress of surgery, the prevention of contagious disease, the new scientific discoveries, etc.

The new volume will bridge the gap between the days of peace before and after the war. It will be printed and bound to match the Britannica and the publishers guarantee that no matter how difficult and costly the supplementary volume may be from the editorial point of view, the price of it to all who purchase the Britannica during the present sale will not be more than that of a corresponding volume of the Britannica.
